

FREE PASSAGE BILL THROUGH SENATE

Important Amendments at Trust or Railroad Con- trol to Canal Measure

OPPOSERS FIGHT TO LAST

Much of Viger of Railway
Provisions of House Bill
Is Retained

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today said it would not raise the discount rate, but it would raise the rate on short-term government securities.

The board's action was announced in a statement after a meeting of the seven-member board.

The board said it would raise the rate on short-term government securities from 4 1/2 percent to 5 percent.

The board also said it would keep the discount rate at 4 percent.

The board's action was announced in a statement after a meeting of the seven-member board.

Senators in the Senate and the House of Representatives. The Senate bill would prohibit ship owners from using the law to force their ships to take on water lines that might otherwise be the competitors. It is provided that the law will be in effect from the date of the bill's passage.

Opponents Fight to Last

As the bill passed it would permit American coastwise vessels to pass through the canal free without conditions while American foreign trade ships might pass through free if they owners agree to sell the vessels to the United States at a fair price in time of war or emergency.

The second part of the agreement about the provision to prohibit rail-owned ships from using the canal.

Broad Restrictions Modified

The broad terms of the original law, but which would have required every railroad in the country to dispose of once its steamships with which it might otherwise compete, were now accepted by the Senate. The law prohibited only a rail owning steamship lines that may operate through the Panama canal.

The Panama amendment now adopted by the Senate, the railroads, and the shipping industry, the rail-provided that it is in the interest of the United States to do so.

In the form in which the vessel returns to the harbor, it will indicate the general situation regarding arrivals entering the Bay of Calcutta for the admission of Ali in register.

The district attorney has learned from Richard D. Barter, a notary public, that on the day after the murder, Becker took his attorney John W. Hart to the house where Jack Rosenbaum wanted the police for the murder was in concealment. This was the house of Harry Pollak who with his wife was one witness before the grand jury.

Spanich testified before the grand jury that he stood with a few feet from Rosenbaum when he fired the shot.

PRESIDENT AGAIN VETOES WOOL TARIFF

Returns Compromise Bill of Congress Declaring It Would Bring Disaster

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—For the second time within a year President Taft today vetoed a bill to revise the wool tariff—schedule K of the Payne-Aldrich law.

The president returned to congress the bill evolved as a compromise between the house and senate, holding that its low rates would bring disaster to home industries. He appealed to congress however, not to adjourn until it had enacted a measure to "substantially reduce unnecessary existing duties" without destroying protection for the wool industry in the United States.

The president's disapproval of the wool bill is to be followed with similar vetoes of the steel bill and the cotton bill. The sugar bill was likely to be vetoed, as is the excise tax bill, the latter probably on the ground that the president believes it is unconstitutional. "I shall stand by my pledges to maintain a degree of protection necessary to offset the differences in cost of production here and abroad and will heartily approve of any bill reducing duties to this level," wrote Mr. Taft. While the present bill and the one disapproved last year were identical in terms the president's reasons differed. He vetoed the former because it had been framed before the tariff board's report—the latter because he said it had been framed with disregard for the board's findings.

Claim Would Work Injury. "Most of the rates in the submitted bill," wrote the president, "are so low in themselves that if enacted into law the inevitable result would be irretrievable injury to the wool-growing industry, the enforced idleness of much of our wool combing and spinning machinery and of thousands of looms and the consequent throwing out of employment of thousands of workmen."

The bill sent to the White House imposed an ad valorem duty of 29 per cent on raw wool and on cloths of 48 per cent. Both rates Taft held were insufficient to protect the wool grower and the manufacturer.

It was predicted today that the wool bill might be passed by the house over Mr. Taft's veto, but there was some doubt as to its fate in the senate. Republican leaders were inclined to believe that it would fall of passage there as it did 12 months ago.

Big Reductions in All Boys' Knee Pants and Rompers at Our Big Clearance Sale

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The president declared in his measure that he was anxious to see schedule K revised downward and that he would be glad to see congress remain in Washington until a bill he considered was proper was sent to the White house. He found it impossible, he said, in view of the platform on which he was elected to approve the submitted measure, but declared one agreeable to his views had been drafted by minority members of the house and means committee.

Asks Congress to Act. "I strongly desire to reduce duties," read the message. "provided only the protective system be maintained and that industries now established be not destroyed. It now appears from the tariff board's report and from bills introduced into the house and senate that a bill may be drawn to be within the requirements of protection and still offer a reduction of 20 per cent on most wools and of from 20 per cent to 30 per cent on cloths."

"I cannot act on the assumption that a majority of either house will refuse to pass a bill of this kind. I therefore urge upon congress that it do not adjourn without taking advantage of the plain opportunity thus substantially to reduce unnecessary existing duties. I appeal to congress to reconsider the measure which I now return without my approval and to adopt a substitute therefor, making substantial reductions below the rates of the present act, which the tariff board shows possible without destroying any established industry or throwing any wage earner out of employment and which I will promptly approve."

"Despite the efforts that have been made to discredit the work of the tariff board their report on this schedule has been accepted with scarcely a dissenting voice, by all those familiar with the problems discussed, including active representatives of organizations formed in the interest of the public and the consumer."

The message was drawn after conferences between the president and Chairman Emory of the tariff board. It was submitted to the cabinet yesterday at a special meeting. Reports that two members of the president's official family urged him to approve this measure are denied.

William C. Robinson

CANDIDATE FOR THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR STATE SENATOR FROM EL PASO COUNTY. NAME TO GO ON THE PRIMARY BALLOT BY PETITION.

IN ORDER THAT THE PUBLIC MAY KNOW HIS VIEWS ON CERTAIN IMPORTANT QUESTIONS, HE MAKES THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT:

6. I WILL SUPPORT LAWS PERMITTING THE FREE AND FULL USE OF THE INITIATIVE, REFERENDUM, AND THE RECALL OF ALL PUBLIC OFFICERS INCLUDING JUDGES OF COURTS.

The only purpose and cause of the American state constitution was and is the fear that the people could not safely trust their representatives when in the general assembly to make the statute law. That fear has existed since the first state constitution was adopted, and the experience of 135 years has shown the fear to be well founded. It is no longer denied that the great interests that seek profit and unjust advantage from the law are able to control a large number of persons whom the people elect to represent them in the law-making body.

By the initiative and referendum the people have taken back into their own hands the power which they had heretofore delegated to their representatives to make their laws. They certainly have that right. The fact that some improper measures have been initiated and submitted to the vote of the people on this first trial of the law is not sufficient grounds for condemning the law. It is right in principle and will result in a world of good.

Why should not the people recall an incompetent or corrupt officer? Those officers are the servants and employees of the people who elect them. Why should the employment not cease when the employee becomes incompetent or corrupt? Recently a high federal officer declared that the American people lacked "reverence" for their public officials. What nonsense! A good American can have no "reverence" for any human being; he reserves that feeling for his Maker. Another high federal officer has repeatedly declared that the recall is supported by demagogues and neurotics, but it requires a majority of the voters to recall an officer, and I have never yet known the majority of the voters in any subdivision of our country to join a mob.

No honest officer needs to fear the recall and every dishonest or incompetent officer ought to be recalled whether he is a Supreme Court judge or a constable.

WATCH THIS SPACE TOMORROW FOR FURTHER COMMENT.

OROZCO MAKES AND LATER REPUDIATES TERMS FOR PEACE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 9.—An unexpected change in the attitude of Venustiano Carranza late tonight, prevented the revolution in the north from being without an official head, tonight.

Negotiations, involving a secret cabinet meeting, telegraphic communication between a cabinet minister in El Paso and President Carranza, came to an end temporarily, at least, when Orozco repudiated preparations, he himself had made.

Wary, apparently, of fighting, Orozco proposed to the government to disarm these men over whom he yet has direct control and to leave Mexico if permitted to do so. His only stipulation was that the government promise not to pursue him, cause his arrest, or persecute him in any foreign country in which he might choose to reside.

Government Liked Proposition.

The government was well satisfied with his proposition; but, later, Minister of Fomento Hennañez reported from El Paso that Carranza had changed his mind. Orozco did not claim he would be able to induce Salazar, Rojas, Campos, Carage and others, who have been prominently identified with his movement, to surrender, and it is believed not impossible that Salazar may be the one who has blocked negotiations.

The assumption that Orozco would deny he had opened negotiations with the government is suggested as the reason for the reluctance displayed at the president's office to admit that a conference had begun.

Efforts to make terms with Emiliano Zapata, leader of the rebels in the south, appear to have been unsuccessful. No report from the commission that went to El Jilguero to confer with him has been received, but it is known that Zapata insisted upon terms impossible for the government to grant, including the resignation of the president.

COLORADO GRAND LODGE, K. OF P., ELECTS OFFICERS

O'Brien, Denver, grand keeper of records and correspondence; G. H. Winchell, Denver, grand scribe; George Clark, Denver, grand master-at-arms; E. B. Coulter, Greeley, grand inner guard; W. T. Baldrick, Trinidad, grand outer guard; at the close of today's session the supreme lodge will adjourn to Monday to allow knights to take the trip to Corona tomorrow. Members of the board of control elected to serve until 1917 are: Chas. F. S. Neal, Lebanon, Ind.; Wm. A. Owen, Covington, Tenn.

TWO BATTLESHIPS REPORTED DAMAGED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—The battleship Nebraska ran on an uncharted shoal near Newport, R. I., last night and was so seriously damaged that she has been ordered to dry dock at Boston navy yard. The flagship Connecticut about the same time broke her starboard crankshaft and has been ordered to Philadelphia for repairs.

The navy department immediately ordered the Nebraska to the Boston navy yard for examination. It is believed the ship has been seriously injured and it may be necessary to put her out of commission, replacing her in the fleet with one of the reserve battleships.

An investigation will be made to locate the uncharted shoal, the existence of which in waters so crowded with shipping is a great surprise to naval officers.

The Connecticut's accident was not serious. It is reported that last week to the battleship Mississippi. The crank shaft of the starboard engine broke. Adjutant Osterhaus will transfer his flag to one of the other battleships.

FOURTEEN REBELS KILLED

"Hydraulic cartridges" may be used for blasting, with much greater safety to surrounding buildings, passersby and workmen than in the use of explosives. This method of loosening rock, coal, etc., is coming into general use in England. The cartridge works on the familiar principle of hydraulic pressure, by which enormous power may be gradually exerted by means of a tube filled with water.

Cox Wins All His Races in Pa. Meet

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 9.—Walter R. Cox, the New Hampshire driver at the Grand Circuit at the closing day of the Pittsburgh meeting, won every race in which he drove, which was three out of four. Cox won the 2:18 trot with Aron McKinney, the 2:13 pace with Baron A. and the 2:20 pace with Myrtle Baron, all of them in straight heats.

The free-for-all pacing championship, the only one in which Cox had no entry, brought out the best field of the week. Evelyn W. the horse that paced 2:03½ and 2:04½ in Detroit July 28, Independence Boy, showing 2:02½ in the same race, and Vernon McKinney, Don Danmore, and Sir R. who captured the 2:04 pace in Glenside July 30, were starters in the race, which went to Don Danmore after Vernon McKinney had taken the first heat in 2:05½.

Sir R. was on his bad behavior, and out of sync, but after the second heat he was ruled out. The finish of the last heat was so hot that when the judges announced Don Danmore had won over Evelyn W., the crowd roared and cheered the decision.

The 2:20 pace, the last of the day's card, narrowed down to a two-horse race. Dr. Cleaver and Lew Perkins were distanced in the first heat and Dr. Cleaver and Lew Perkins were distanced in the second. Myrtle Baron, the Cox horse, and Denver Boy, a Colorado horse, were left to fight it out. Myrtle Baron took the race. She broke at the quarter to the last heat, and Denver Boy raced away from her. Myrtle Baron, however, and was neck and neck

Colorado City DEPARTMENT

POLICE TO INVESTIGATE

Mayor Hamble has given Chief of Police Tava a list of houses which have fallen under suspicion, lodging houses which are thought to be resorts, and other places which are believed to be gambling dens. The mayor's instructions to the chief of police are to investigate and bring charges, if any violation of the law is discovered.

MAYOR HAMBLE OBJECTS TO AUTO LICENSE PLAN

Believing that the practice of Colorado Springs authorities, in collecting license fees from visiting automobilists, no matter whether they are staying in Colorado Springs or in some one of the other towns in the region, is a clear invasion of rights that are not theirs, Mayor Hamble has requested that the practice be discontinued as far as Colorado City is concerned. As a matter of official courtesy, the licenses of each city are recognized in the other, but when a visitor staying in Colorado City is charged a Colorado Springs license fee, Colorado City loses out. Mayor Hamble thinks Colorado City has as much right to this money as Colorado Springs.

RIO GRANDES AND ZOOZ WILL BREAK THE TIE TOMORROW

Baseball of the kind that sets the bugs on edge is scheduled for Zooz park tomorrow afternoon, and Alderman Coughlin's grandstands will probably entertain one of the largest crowds of the season, especially so since right after the game a free feast of fire, juicy watermelons will be served to all within the park.

The heavy hitting Zooz will be opposed by the other premier aggregation of walloping players, the redoubtable Rio Grandes of Denver, and the ballplayers have been bringing up for the occasion every since their last appearance here, July 3 and 4, when they broke even with the Zooz in a couple of sluggers. The games, so far this season, between the teams, stand two and two, and tomorrow's game will break the tie.

The Rio Grandes will have their crack pitcher, Galt, in the box, and he will be opposed by LeRoy Van Stone, who has been pitching better ball every time he has stepped on the mound. This means a pitchers battle, but a battle with some hitting, for the last time these two were opposed, each was touched up for a dozen safe singles.

ELKS AND PIKES PEAKERS WILL MIX THIS AFTERNOON

The long time controversy between the Elks and Pikes Peak clubs over the question of which has the better baseball team will be settled at least for the time being this afternoon when the teams of the two clubs clash on Washburn field. For weeks the two teams have been working out, and reports from the rival camps last night were to the effect that both the Elks and the Peakers were in tip-top condition for the fray.

The game will be called at 3 o'clock, and an admission fee of 25 cents will be charged. The proceeds will go to the Elks charity fund, and this fact alone should make the crowd a record breaker.

What the Press Agents Say

TODAY THE LAST DAY OF "THE PRINCE CHAMP" AT THE BURNS THEATRE

This afternoon and again tonight at the Burns theater "The Prince Champ" will be the attraction, and there is good reason to predict two capacity audiences. Thus far seven performances of this delightful comedy-drama has been given, and not alone has the attendance been almost up to the point of capacity of the beautiful playhouse, but praise for both play and players has been unstinted.

Colorado Springs has shown an appreciation for the play which is written above the sordidness of present-day conditions, and its wholesome appeal has appealed to all classes of theater patrons. The story is appealing, and told in a simple and unaffected way that makes it all the more pathetic.

"A GILDED FOOL" THE BURNS' NEXT ATTRACTION

Nat C. Goodwin immortalized himself as an actor of the highest type as Chauncey Short in "A Gilded Fool," and probably in no other role was his success as pronounced.

"A Gilded Fool" has all the romance that is consistent with modern conditions and times, and possesses the whimsical philosophy of "The Admirable Crichton," or "What Every Woman Knows."

When Henry Guy Carleton wrote "A Gilded Fool" he did his best, for not before or since has he been able to produce anything nearing it in play value.

It requires just such an actor as Malcolm Duncan to make "A Gilded Fool" possible, and with excellent support and superb staging, this production will be one of the most artistic of the Burns summer theatrical season.

There is that something in "A Gilded Fool" which makes women love it—and men enjoy it. There isn't a bad part in the play, and not a character that cannot be handled in a remarkably clever manner by the Burns cast. In fact, no other legitimate comedy could so well show the setting strength of the entire company.

While it may be promising a great deal, patrons of the Burns are assured one of the most satisfactorily, if not the most pleasing, dramatic effort of this already remarkably successful season, in the presentation of "A Gilded Fool."

There will be no increase in prices for this comedy masterpiece—just 25 to 75 cents for the night performances, and 25 to 50 cents for the Tuesday and Saturday matinees.

LAST TIMES—TODAY—"THE WOLF" AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The success of "The Wolf" at the Grand opera house hardly needs press comment. It is needless to say that the people of Colorado Springs and visitors have shown their approval and appreciation of the past performances by their large and most appreciative attendance.

Owing to the popular demand, "The Wolf," Eugene Walters' greatest drama is being repeated this week by James Hawley and Garrick Players.

Today matinee and night, tourists and their friends will find an afternoon or evening well spent, witnessing "The Wolf," being a most restful, delightful and pleasant form of entertainment after a day's sight seeing.

Opening Monday evening next, and running for the entire week, "Out of the Fold" will be presented. This is one of those popular rural comedy dramas, similar to "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the piece that had the big hit three weeks ago as presented by the Hawley company. One of the scenes will especially afford plenty of amusement of the old-as well as the young.

This, a country school room, gives the company a splendid opportunity to portray the rural characters so interesting to all of us, for we all remember these characters in our old home town. "Out of the Fold" is a play that appeals to everyone and by all indications the theater will be packed nightly, as many reservations are being made for the opening performance Monday.

Manager Paugh has a few more surprises in store for the patrons of the opera house. One of the biggest productions ever offered is back in this city is now in preparation—the clever musical comedy—"Time, Place and Girl." "The Holy City" will also be produced in the near future. The Hawley company will be well prepared to present these two plays as rehearsals have started on both pieces. The scenic artist has his plots and the stage crew is building the productions.

SUMMER SKIN DISEASES

During the summer most persons are annoyed with pimples, boils, rashes, or eruptions, while others suffer more severely with Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, or some kindred skin disease. The eruptions may be glossed over and inflammation reduced by the application of washes, cosmetics, salves, etc., but no skin affection can ever be permanently cured in this way. Only pure blood insures a healthy skin and the circulation is therefore the point at which treatment should be directed. S.S.S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. S.S.S. builds the circulation up to its normal strength, increases its nutritive powers and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin instead of being irritated, burned and blistered with acid humors and impurities, is nourished and healed by a plentiful supply of pure, rich blood. ## IS DRY FARMING A FAILURE?

IN The Forum for May an article was published entitled, "The Golden Fleece." It was written by Paul S. Richards, who signs himself "A Wyoming Sheep-Man." The author takes the position that dry farming has been a failure, and that dry farmers should vacate in favor of sheep and cattle owners. Mr. Richards maintains that the supporters of dry farming make a false claim that the rain belt is moving westward; he says that the open range is disappearing to the detriment of sheep raisers. He says that false promises are made to induce settlers to enter the dry farming region, and "that in Colorado the railroads and the public had been appealed to to raise a fund to furnish the dry farmers the seed to enable them to put in a crop." He concludes that, "the end of the tragic joke known as dry farming is only a matter of time," and that dry farming should be made "a misdemeanor and the disseminating of dry farming literature a felony under the penal code."

This is surely a severe indictment against dry farming. It is true that certain dishonest land companies have made false promises; but it is also true that the last three years have been years of drought; and that the majority of difficulties experienced by dry farmers are due to a failure to follow correct dry farming methods. It is true that a fund was collected in this county to furnish seed to dry farmers. However, that fund was collected in the firm belief that if the dry farmers would use it for designated dry farming crops that success would be extremely probable.

In the last number of The Forum, John T. Burns, executive secretary-treasurer of the International Dry Farming Congress, a gentleman well and favorably known in Colorado Springs, has answered Mr. Richards. He says, in part:

"While there is a shadow of the truth in the writing of Mr. Richards, his statements are so devoid of accuracy that I believe it is due to the readers of The Forum to know the facts in the case."

"Never in the history of the development of dry farming or of the West itself has there been any statement made by any person presumed to have good judgment, that the rain belt was moving westward although the line of civilization—of actual farming—has moved westward in response to the cry of the people for more land."

"It is true that the open range has gradually disappeared in the West. . . . The invasion of the actual farmer into the West was an affront, and seems still to be an affront to the livestock man of the old school."

"It is also true that thousands of families came into the subhumid territory unprepared financially to meet the hardships of the pioneer conditions before them and not a few came ignorant of the exact methods that must be adopted in order to insure successful crops."

"A certain percentage was. But is this not true of every line of business, be it farming, banking or manufacturing? The progressive pioneers who intelligently studied the situation as regards the production of crops on the plains at first educated themselves by the methods of their successful neighbors, attended farmers' institutes, read the latest agricultural literature of the day, equipped themselves with proper implements and seeds, and took good care of their soils and crops; and most of them have won and are well satisfied."

"When Mr. Richards makes a statement that crops cannot be produced at an altitude of 5,000 feet, even with scientific soil culture, and that it takes irrigation to produce a crop at that altitude, he proves his ignorance of the facts, for many of the best crops in the West are produced at an altitude of from 5,500 to 6,750 feet; some of the best corn in the world has been produced at an altitude of 5,500 feet and three ranchers are producing an average of 50 to 65 bushels per acre annually at this altitude."

"Mr. Richards makes the statement that irrigation is necessary in high altitudes, but he forgets that when the last drop of irrigation water has been impounded and distributed in the ditches, but 15 per cent of the agricultural West will then be under irrigation influence."

"Agricultural rainfall and soil maps of the various western States, and statistical reports combine to show that 63 per cent of the entire agricultural acreage of the States west of the Missouri River can be operated exclusively under dry farming methods; but it is in the West that no farmer can expect to succeed year in and year out, unless he consistently and persistently utilizes the methods of tillage, seed-breeding, management and crop rotation, which have been proved by thousands of farmers to be necessary under the local conditions."

Richard of California, State of Minnesota, Wisconsin of Utah, Campbell of Nebraska, Hiram of Colorado, Baker of Texas, Watson of Wyoming, Farrar of Idaho, Lundberg of Montana, and hundreds of experts have, by their demonstration, experimentation, and assembled reports shown conclusively that dry farming properly followed is the highest type of agricultural operation, positive in its results, insurance against drought, and therefore to be considered successful as a system of farm operation."

"If dry farming were a fraud, as is positively stated by the writer of the article, 'The Golden Fleece,' it would seem strange that thousands of men would travel long distances each year to assemble at some convention city for the purpose of studying subhumid agriculture and the development of dry farming methods, for the exchange of reports and to listen to discussions, and to study the great exposition of dry-farmed products which is made annually in connection with the International Dry Farming Congress."

Mr. Burns knows the dry farming situation as few men know it. He is familiar with the best scientific experiments and in touch with the agricultural experts. He is not prejudiced. In his answer to Mr. Richards' overdrawn indictment he has stated the situation fairly and accurately.

WE THANK YOU!

ON Tuesday, July 30, The Gazette requested the Progressive Republican voters of El Paso County to come to the business office of this paper and affix their signatures to the petitions for the nomination of Philip B. Stewart for Governor, of Merle D. Vincent for United States Senator, and Ben Griffith for Attorney General. The voters responded to this appeal so cordially that all of the petitions were filed the next day with more than double the number of signatures required.

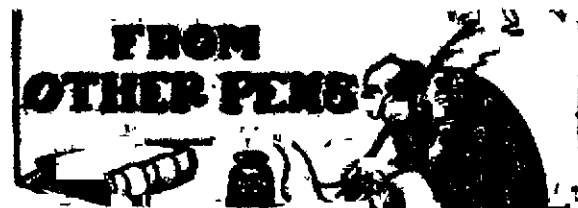

From August 6 to August 9 The Gazette again asked the voters to come to this office and sign the petitions to place the names of Progressive Republicans upon the direct primary ballot in September as candidates for the Republican nomination for the various county, district and state offices. The voters have again responded royally to this appeal for their support. All of the petitions that have been on file in the office have received many more signatures than is required.

The Gazette, the Progressive Republican Club of Colorado Springs, the Progressive Republican Club of Colorado City and the candidates themselves desire to take this opportunity to express their thanks to the voters who have taken the time and trouble to sign the Progressive Republican petitions.

THE DOG TAX.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Colorado Springs charges $2 tax for male dogs and $5 for females. Is there any other city which charges as much? And why this enormous difference—the suffragettes should protest against the discrimination in sex. Anyone who has tried to dispose of a litter of dogs knows how difficult it is to give away even a well-bred bitch. Ten people are willing to pay five dollars a year to own one. Taxes generally are in some proportion to property owned, yet the poor child with his worthless cur is charged just the same as the millionaire with his imported prize dog. If I remember rightly, the five-dollar tax is of recent date. Who is responsible for it, and what means can be taken to have it reduced?
DOG LOVER.
Colorado Springs, Aug. 8.

WEED OUT THE DAREDEVILS FROM THE AIR.

From the New York American.
Since the first of the present year 53 airmen have been killed. Since 1908 163 have lost their lives in following the sport.

It will be noted that almost one-third of the deaths of aeronauts have occurred within the last six months. Yet the aeroplane and the dirigible are safer to handle than ever before. The construction of the machine is better. The method of traveling in the air is better understood. The motors have been perfected. Air conditions are now well known.

Then why the vast increase in deaths this year? There can be only one answer to this question. Airmen are growing careless. Their constant use of machines to soar aloft has made them feel that they can take chances that heretofore they would not dare to take. Under these conditions more rigid requirements should be exacted of those who qualify for pilots' licenses.

Up to the present all that has been required is for a man or woman to show mechanical ability to lift the aeroplane from the ground and hold it steady for a certain time and distance. Certain turns and landings are required, but shown as proof of the dexterity of the aeronaut.

But more than this must be required of airmen if the sport is to continue and prosper. The organizations that have control of the issuance of licenses, should apply stern tests to weed out from the applicants the daredevils and the careless who are making a Roman holiday of the greatest sport on earth or in air.

"THE TWENTIETH CENTURY SCHOOL."

From the Chicago Tribune.
The most profoundly constructive activity in America today is what is called the child welfare movement. It represents state building, nation building, race building in the most practical and yet the most idealistic sense.

It is not necessary to insist or enlarge upon that. But it is significant how more and more thought and effort are being concentrated upon the problem of the child, how the idea of education is broadening and deepening and advancing with the aid not only of the expert pedagogues but of the physician and the sociologist.

Now more than ever before the educational ideal in America is expressible in Juvenal's formula, mens sana in corpore sano, and the school of the future whose outlines we are even now realizing may accomplish this balance and harmony and completeness of individual development which modern conditions so seriously threaten.

In the July number of that interesting new magazine The Hill, one of the most effective workers toward the newer ideals discusses what he calls, we hope prophetically, "the twentieth century public school." The speaker is Superintendent William Wirt of the Gary public schools.

Superintendent Wirt declares that "the new possible form of an educational plant is a massive brick and stone building, with every device perfected for keeping children quiet in a straitjacket school seat all day long." Education is not merely the mechanical study of books nor the child a machine.

"The twentieth century public school," says Superintendent Wirt, "saves the taxpayers money by providing, first, classrooms and libraries where the child can study books and recite from books, second, playgrounds, gymnasiums, and swimming pools where the child can play and secure a general physical training; third, shops, gardens, drawing rooms, and laboratories where the child can work and learn to do efficiently many things by doing them; fourth, an auditorium, where by lectures, recitals, dramatization, phonograph, player piano, stereopticon lantern and motion pictures the visual and auditory education of the child may be done efficiently."

The estimate of saving in first cost and maintenance need not be given here. What is more important that money economy is the social economy involved in the tremendous vitalization of education thus expanded and its effect upon the whole development of the child. The waste of attention of time and energy under our present system is large. If schools are what they ought to be children will want to be in school and can afford to be in school much longer hours and all the year round.

"The universal problem of keeping the children in school has been solved," Superintendent Wirt asserts. "The school provides a real life so that the child wants to educate himself at the very moment that he has the opportunity. The play impulse is transformed into a work impulse so that real pleasure is experienced in work. The school life creates a need and desire for the academic and cultural work of the school. There is no attempt to remove the difficulties. The supposed distasteful work of the school is not sugar coated with sentimentalism. The wasted time and the misdirected energy of the street and alley are utilized to awaken ambition, develop initiative, and create power in the child so that he can find real joy in the mastery of difficulties. The child is busy and actively engaged the year round educating himself."

Superintendent Wirt's summary on behalf of his many-sided modern school conveys a suggestion which it is hoped will bear fruit in school boards throughout the land. The twentieth century school, he says, "gives the child not a shop, not a playground, but a life."

LIFE'S LITTLE EMBARRASMENTS.

From the Salem, O., Republican-Free.
In arranging the location of electric lamps in the bathroom very few people think of the shadows that will be thrown upon the window shade if the lamps are not properly placed. Never permit lights to be so arranged that the tub will be between them and the window. This is one of the little things which must be considered when the house is being wired. It becomes a glaring defect after the work is done, and often a source of embarrassment.

Can You Laugh?

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Can you laugh?"
Just about once in so often I am newly impressed with the enormous value of a good laugh as a social asset.

My most recent lesson in this matter was given me by one of those innumerable acquaintances which we all make in vacation days. She was a rather plain woman with no particular recommendation except that ability to laugh often, at the proper time, and extremely well. And by 'well' I don't mean musically, but simply with an appearance of hearty enjoyment and appreciation.

Without the laugh she would have been commonplace. With it she shortly became one of the most popular women in the hotel. Everyone said to everyone else, "What a jolly woman Mrs. S. is. How much interest she takes in everyone. What a pleasure it is to talk to her." Newcomers, especially, were delighted with her.

At first I, too, was among the enthusiasts, but in two or three weeks I—like many others—got under the laugh, found that the heartiness was only a mask, and that the reality beneath the mask was rather more cold and selfish than the average. But whoever failed her, there were always plenty of new arrivals to meet the lady, fall beneath the spell of the laugh and go about saying, "What a jolly woman Mrs. S. is," etc.

Now please consider what an asset that laugh was. It successfully concealed coldness and selfishness; it won constant popularity for an otherwise commonplace woman; it made infinitely more friends for her in a season than many genuinely cordial men and women find in a lifetime.

Now I am sure some of my readers are wondering what I mean by praising such a woman. Perhaps they are saying, "I wouldn't be such a hypocrite for anything."

Nobody wants you to be hypocrites, my friends. And I am not praising the woman. I am simply praising the laugh.

I am taking it for granted that you are one of the genuinely cordial folks, and, therefore, I urge that you learn to laugh as a self-expression, not as a pretense.

If a woman with no warmth in her heart could make friends so easily by a pleasant laugh, think how much a man or woman with a really cordial heart could do.

An attractive show window is necessary to lure people into a shop even if the things inside are most desirable. And so every day it made desirably people cannot afford to be entirely without show-window characteristics such as good manners, the ability to talk small talk, an agreeable presence and a pleasant laugh.

A pleasant smile is a good thing, but a pleasant laugh is infinitely better. So don't be afraid to laugh, but with people and at them—when they want to be laughed at. And don't you think such a time doesn't exist. Most people are as afraid to be laughed at as a cat is to have its back scratched.

provided of course to laugh at them at the right time—that is when they intend to be amusing.

Can you laugh?

If you can't why don't you learn to?

NO. 7—MEXICAN CALENDAR STONES

The most interesting and unique of all the methods of calculating time is exhibited in the Mexican calendar stones. These stones demonstrate clearly the fact of Mexican civilization through their adequate system of being able to keep dates. The Mexican civil year was composed of 365 days, divided into eighteen months of twenty days and five supplementary days. The Mexicans had besides a ritual or religious year for the regulation of their festivals; and, by means of a cycle of fifty-two years, and a very complicated method of computation, the religious and civil periods were connected with one another, and the civil year was made to correspond with the natural by the intercalation of thirteen days at the end of the cycle.

The Mexican month was divided into four weeks of five days, but each day of the month had a distinct name, and Humboldt has given strong reason for believing that these names were borrowed from an ancient zodiac formed of 27 or 28 lunar hours which was made use of from the remotest antiquity in Tartary, Thibet and India.

The calendar of the Mexicans has a degree of scientific skill and an accuracy of observation which are not easily reconciled with the semi-barbarous habits, their general ignorance of other things, and the recent date of their civilization according to their own account. It is here, indeed, and not in their language, that we find distinct traces of their connection with Asiatic nations.

We know little of the astronomical attainments of the ancient Mexicans. That they were acquainted with the cause of eclipses is evident from the representations on their maps of the disk of the moon projected on that of the sun. We know of no astronomical instruments used by them except the dial. An immense circular block of carved stone, discovered in 1790, in the great square in Mexico, has supplied an acute and learned scholar with the means of establishing some interesting facts in regard to Mexican science. This colossal fragment, on which the calendar is engraved, shows that they had the means of setting the hours of the day with precision, the periods of the solstice and of the equinoxes, and that of the sun across the zenith of Mexico.

The civil day was distributed by the Mexicans into sixteen parts, and began, like that of most of the Asiatic nations, with sunrise. This calendar stone consists of a dark polished granite in its original dimensions, taken from the quarry, is computed to have weighed nearly 50 tons. It was transported from the mountains beyond Lake Chalco a distance of many leagues, over a broken country intersected by water-courses and canals. This occurred during the reign of Montezuma.

In Prescott's "Conquest of Mexico," he says, "When we reflect on the difficulty of heaving such a tremendous mass from its hard basaltic bed without the aid of iron tools and that of transporting it such a distance across land and water without the help of animals, we may well feel admiration at the mechanical ingenuity and enterprise of the people who accomplished it."

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 10, 1882.

A negro known as Dan Diamond was arrested in Manitou on suspicion that he had robbed a jewelry store there. Some of the stolen jewelry was found in his possession.

Preparations were being made for an elaborate welcome to the victorious Jackson Hose team on their return from the state fireman's tournament at Silver Cliff.

Efforts were being made to consolidate Pueblo and South Pueblo, which were then separate towns.

AUGUST 10, 1892.

An electric car on the Manitou line broke a front axle coming down the Huernero street hill. It jumped the track and turned half-way around, delaying traffic for an hour or more.

The work of filling the ditches and rolling the walks in the parks had been completed.

The carriage road from Cascade to the summit of the Peak was said to be doing a big business.

An employee of the Colorado Springs Gardens ranch was tossed by a bull and quite seriously injured.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CAMP LIFE
THE STATIONERY TRADE

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The city of Omaha next week will extend a hearty welcome to the members of the National Stationer's association who will hold their annual convention in the Nebraska metropolis. The program promises an unusual number of social entertainments interspersed with the business sessions of the gathering at which will be discussed various matters pertaining to the growth and development of the stationer's trade.

The two subjects of paramount interest are the increased cost of paper and the possibilities of a fixed price for all advertised manufactured articles. This fixed price question is one involving the dealers in all classes of goods but the stationers are especially interested in it because so many articles of stationery are handled by other stores, especially department stores, where a larger variety of goods makes possible a smaller percentage of profit. Frequently a salesman will approach a stationery dealer and induce him to place a larger order for some article than his trade warrants, on the ground that it is being extensively advertised at a price that will insure him a generous profit. But it often happens that a few weeks after he has received his goods he will find that the same article which he is selling at its advertised price of a dollar, is being sold by a department store for 85 cents. He is then compelled to make a still further cut in price or else run the risk of having a large amount of unsalable stock on his hands.

There is no line of trade which has developed more rapidly during the last quarter of a century than that of the stationer, largely because the increased facilities for commercial work have called into service many articles unheard of by the old-time tradesman. The legitimate stationery trade includes every article used in a commercial office except the furniture, and in some of the larger cities the stationers may also carry a line of office furniture, although this is frowned upon by many persons as an encroachment upon the furniture trade.

Added to Stationer's Supplies.

The introduction of the typewriter called for a great addition to the stationer's trade. The varied kinds of paper required for different purposes caused a lavishness in the use of paper unknown to the office where all the writing was done by hand. There are all sorts of erasers, brushes for cleaning the machine, as well as the typewriter ribbons of every shade and variety, all of which should be found in a well equipped stationer's store. With supplies which are also of most endearing variety. There are special pencils for this purpose and notebooks in many styles. One of the newest has a rack attached to its back which enables the user to stand it upright upon the desk so that the notes may be easily read while they are being transcribed upon the typewriter. Besides the typewriting and stenographic supplies, most of the modern offices need some equipment for duplicating their letters and documents. Many of these are shown, from the elaborate multi-graphing machine upon which thousands of copies may be quickly made to the special ink tablets which are supplied with carbon sheets making duplicates of the bills as they are written on the first sheet with an ordinary pen or pencil.

Even the telephone, which might seem complete in itself, has called forth some special adjuncts which add to the demands upon the stationer. There are telephone number lists, some mounted on leather, to hang on the wall beside the phone, and others, more elaborate, attached to the phone. These last may contain a number of indexed cards arranged so as to be easily accessible and save much time in looking up numbers in the regular telephone book. One of the popular inventions is a table attached to the base of the telephone for taking notes. This consists of a firm steel band with a good sized opening under which is arranged a length of paper from a self-feeding roll below. This enables one to take notes upon a telephonic interview without having to stop and write the particulars. For sanitary reasons an antiseptic mouthpiece is desirable upon all telephones and these are also supplied by the stationer.

Card Indexes Popular.

The increasing number of uses to which card indexes are put call for an endless variety in this class of goods. The small boxes can be secured from the stationers while the larger ones may be included in furniture. The cards for all sizes are of course included in stationery. Card indexes are now used for keeping private accounts, for lists of books read, for engagements, for bills, in fact, for any purpose for which a systematic list is desirable.

Perhaps the latest thing in card indexes is the cooking recipe cabinet which only recently has been arranged. It contains selected recipes of various kinds with a proper system of classification. The development of domestic science has led to methods never dreamed of by our grandmothers. The trained expert in this art sees no more reason why her cooking formulas should not be as systematically arranged as those of any other class of laborator and the card index seems to be the ideal system. If desired, the housewife may have several of these cases properly supplied with cards under the subjects of soups, salads, desserts and the like. Or she may have one cabinet containing assorted recipes of various kinds. She may fill her cabinet with her own selected recipes written on cards furnished for the purpose, or she may buy recipes for all classes of cookery, prepared by the leading chefs of the world and printed upon the indexed cards for her convenience. The card index recipe cabinet is one of the newest ideas in wedding presents and to the practical-minded bride nothing could be more acceptable.

Envelopes An Important Adjunct.

The various channels of office work for a seemingly endless variety in envelopes and the manufacturers of this one article has now reached enormous proportions and its products are an important adjunct to the stationer's trade. The American Envelope Manufacturers' association, which is a well established body, now, at its recent meeting, decided that an increase in the price of envelopes would be made this fall because of the great advance in the cost of materials, especially paper. This association has the unique disadvantage of having the United States government as a rival in trade and it is now considering some means of inducing the government to desist from the manufacture and sale of stamped envelopes at a cost below the cost of manufacture. The fact that the government recently has decided to advance the price of envelopes, having a return printed in the corner is regarded as indicative that it has no desire to do anything detrimental to any established trade.

While an envelope is a seemingly trivial article, there seems to be no limit to the variety and form in which it may be produced and the list of patents granted each year for envelope and envelope-making machinery is a long one. A novelty which has lately become popular is the self-addressing envelope which has the advantage of being a great labor-saver. It has an opening cut in the front in which a strip of transparent paper is inserted. The letter inside is so folded that the address comes under this transparency, thus avoiding the need of addressing the envelope. Telephone companies, gas companies and other corporations having a large number of statements to send out each month have adopted the self-addressing envelope with enthusiasm. The value of the envelope manufactured last year approximated $12,000,000.

Lines For Social Purposes.

While the trade in office supplies naturally is the heaviest and therefore the most important to the dealer, the various lines of stationery for social purposes add largely to his income each year. There are cards of many kinds, from the small calling card to the large heart one used for expressing the most formal invitations. There is no limit to the uses of the line paper and envelope designed for

BY AUTOMOBILE DRIVER

G. W. Sheff of 311 East Cache la Poudre street was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile yesterday morning, sustaining a number of bad cuts and bruises. The driver of the machine whose name was not learned, loaded Sheff into the car and carried him to a drug store where he was attended by Dr. J. T. Muir. Later he took Sheff home. The accident occurred at Tejon street and Platte avenue. The automobile it is said, was on the wrong side of the street and Sheff was run down.

I Wish to Announce

to my many friends and customers that I have sold my stock, fixtures, etc., to Mr. W. H. Foster of Denver, Colo., who will continue the business in the same place and in a similar manner. I take this opportunity to thank those who have dealt with me in the past and gladly recommend Mr. Foster to them, believing he will endeavor at all times to give them a square deal.
